Amport Parish Profile

This profile provides a summary of the latest available information on the demographic make-up of the parish of Amport within Test Valley. It looks at information on topics such as the population structure, economic, housing, health and educational information for the parish.

Amport is one of the Test Valley's fifty-nine parishes. It has an area of 1619.52 hectares which represents 2.58% of the total area of Test Valley; in terms of size, Amport is Test Valley's ninth largest parish. The parish's population is 1,228 and its population density is 0.76 people per hectare, which is lower than the borough's average population density of 2.10 people per hectare.

Census Data

Some of the data used in this profile is taken from the 2011 Census; where this is the case, this is clearly labelled. Though this data is from several years ago, the breadth and volume of information the Census collects means it remains a valuable source of data and a reasonable indication of current trends.

Deprivation

The English Index of Multiple Deprivation 2019 is designed to identify areas where communities lack resources and are in need. To do this, seven factors are considered, which are:

- income deprivation;
- employment deprivation;
- education, skills and training deprivation;
- health deprivation and disability;
- crime;
- barriers to housing and services;
- living environment deprivation.

Areas are scored on each of these factors, and ranked nationally from least deprived to most deprived.

This map shows the deprivation scores for parish of Amport against all areas in Test Valley. Of 32,844 areas ranked across the country, Amport ranks 20,082nd, this puts it in the 40% of least deprived areas in the country.

More specifically, Amport ranks in the top 10% of most deprived areas when it comes to physical proximity of local services. Amport is also in the top 10% of most deprived areas for its 'indoors' living environment; this is defined by the amount of houses with central heating as well as the proportion of social and private houses that are in a poor condition (as defined by the Decent Homes Standard).

According to the 2011 Census, 71.5% of Amport residents aged 16-74 are economically active, lower than Test Valley as a whole where the figure is 73.4% of residents. This includes people in full-, part- and self-employment, those who are actively seeking a job, and full-time students.

The remaining 28.5% of residents aged 16-74 are economically inactive, compared to 26.6% of Test Valley residents. This includes people who are retired, long-term sick or disabled, or who look after the home and family.

Employment by sector

Following the Local Government Boundary Commission for England (LGBCE) review in 2017, new Ward and Parish boundaries have been introduced in Test Valley. Hence, this information has been produced on a 'best fit' basis, it's not an exact representation of Amport but provides as good an indication as is currently feasible.

This data is taken from the 2018 UK Business Register and Employment Survey which is produced by the Office for National Statistics (ONS). This dataset relies upon a sample of 85,000 businesses across the country, from which these estimates are modelled. As such, there will be some sampling variability which result in the quality of the estimates deteriorating for smaller geographies.

This graph shows the percentage of the workforce by sector, according to the latest Business Register and Employment Survey in 2018. The largest sector employing people in Amport is Health (19.9%) followed jointly by Transport & Storage (incl. Postal) and Accommodation & Food Services (both 14.9%).

Community plans

Amport has a Village Design Statement which was adopted by Test Valley Borough Council in January 2008 as Supplementary Planning Guidance. The design statement provides a description of the natural and man-made features of the village of Amport that are regarded by the members of the community as particularly distinctive. The document provides a guide to ensure that future development and change is managed to respect and preserve the character and distinctiveness of the village. It should thus contribute positively to protecting and enhancing the special nature and qualities of the community that is Amport today.
